Course Description

This course is designed to support the necessary research for advanced research for students pursuing a PhD in Art History.

Assigned Reading

There are no required texts for the course. Instead, we will use numerous book chapters and articles available on our Canvas page or at the UF libraries. Instructional materials for this course consist of only those materials specifically reviewed, selected, and assigned by the instructor. The instructor is only responsible for these instructional materials.

Requirements and Grading:

Requirements:

All students must:

- (1) Design and complete research plan to support their Phd research
- (2) Complete the assigned sources according to the plan approved at the start of the term
- (3) Complete written responses for each reading, synthesizing its big ideas and impact
- (4) Submit the written responses according to the established deadlines (if applicable)

Grade Break Down:

10% Bibliography and plan for readings for the semester

This will be submitted after the first week, and will serve as the schedule for readings

10% Midterm summary of readings

(This is a two-page assessment of big issues that transcend a single reading and can be seen as connective threads. Identify them and explain how they appear in the readings).

This should be emailed to the professor.

10%. Final summary of readings

This is a two-page assessment of big issues that transcend a single reading and can be seen as connective threads. Identify them and explain how they appear in the readings). This should be emailed to the professor.

10% Final discussion with advisor

This discussion will go over the summaries and the readings, ensuring comprehension/

60% Completion of the readings/ reading responses

You should email your reading responses in two batches (during week 7 and week 15).
